Top Reasons to Visit Miami

The Beach: Almost every side street in Miami Beach dead-ends at the ocean. A free-to-all, 300-foot-wide beach with several distinct sections extends for 10 miles from the foot of Miami Beach north to Haulover Beach Park.

Deco-licious Delights: Miami has the largest concentration of 1920s and 1930s resort architecture in the world. Today, the Art Deco District - the country's first 20th century district on the National Register of Historic Places, has more than 800 buildings of significance.

Cultural Pursuits and Ethnic Enclaves: The Miami art, design, and culture scene is nearly as hot as its summer days. Huge influxes of Cuban, Haitian, Bahamian, African-American, Dominican, Puerto Rican, and other South American immigrants make Miami one of the most ethnically-diverse cities in America.
