

"We worked closely with Tom for over ten years on multiple projects and he became a loved and revered member of the WPS family. In that time he influenced many of our lives and touched many of our hearts. We are honored to support continued work in the field Tom was passionate about through FASP's Dr. Thomas Oakland Research Award".

Thank You

unlocking potential

Sponsors of FASP's
Dr. Thomas Oakland
Research Awards

A former professor at the University of Florida and international leader in the field of school psychology, Dr. Thomas Oakland dedicated much of his life's work to understanding those from diverse backgrounds and to expanding the field of school psychology across the world.

FASP is pleased to introduce our annual Dr. Thomas Oakland Research Award to honor the memory and contributions of this legend of school psychology in the state of Florida. The research awards will be given to support FASP student members who are conducting research on 1) school psychology related topics in international or intercultural contexts, 2) diversity issues, or 3) issues related to social justice.

For more information, including guidelines for submitting proposals, visit http://fasp.org/Standing\_Committees/Research.html or email FASPResearchChair@gmail.com